

Camp Whispering Winds

This 220 acre camp is located in the lush hills of Kings Valley, northwest of Philomath and Corvallis, Oregon. The property has picturesque meadows, forests, a central lake, ponds, and a pool. Please note that Camp Whispering Winds is unavailable during summer camp season. Contact us for availability. 165 person total sleeping capacity.

HISTORY

The camp was purchased from the Willis L. Woods family in 1959. In 1960, a contest was held to give this camp a name. Linda Allen, with her entry, “Whispering Winds,” was awarded the winner at the dedication ceremony on May 1, 1960. Construction was completed in the mid-1960s, and many of the structures, with renovations, remain today.

The pool is available seasonally for swimming. Groups must provide their own certified lifeguard and follow Safety Activity Checkpoints (pg. 21).

Archery is available year-round and must be reserved prior to your stay. Groups must provide their own certified archery instructor.

A low ropes course is available year-round. Groups must provide their own certified instructor.

There are canoes for boating throughout the camp. Boats must be reserved prior to your stay. Groups must provide their own certified lifeguard and canoe instructor.

12 mountain bikes are available for rental. Bikes must be reserved prior to your stay.

There are fire pits at all units. Wood is provided.
